

Personal Journal Entry 8

Previously we had set goals for our BAs, some short and some long-term. This week they were supposed to present to us a final idea for their prototype and a start to the prototype on Just In Mind. Unfortunately I had the flu all week and missed our weekly meetings but I am told that they have met their short term goals. I plan on getting caught up to speed on the project with the PMs after our test on Monday and we the BAs at our weekly meeting on Wednesday.