

Team Project

Context

- You and your team have volunteered to participate in a free community information security clinic (“ITACS Clinic”) and provide support to a under-served small local business
- In a prior meeting your team was introduced to a number of small businesses and community support organizations
 - At that meeting you did a great job introducing your company and the service you are offering through the clinic
 - One organization that attended the meeting has taken you up on your offer, and signed up to meet with you and receive intensive help from your team
- You will conduct your next meeting with your client during your Team Presentation
 - Your client knows who you are and there is no need to reintroduce your team during your Team Presentation

- Explain where they are in the process and how the homework assignment you are giving them fits in the process

3. Homework Assignment – Explain how your client should get started in the process described in 2, and what they need to work on and bring with them to your next meeting
