PROJECTSMax Labs, Digital Systems

- The course teaches how to be a Digital Product Manager for companies. In this course, I used Salesforce on my Lab project “Max’s Lab where Max a college student taking the Intro to Business Technology course at San Jose State in Silicon tells a story on how to create apps. I implemented the step-by-step process and recreated her story.

Original Data Analysis, Data Science

- This group project was done by 5 other members of my group including me. For this presentation, we have gathered data about “What is the gig economy?” from USAFacts.org. My role in this presentation was sorting data using Tableau Desktop and Piktochart to make better data visualization and infographics.
- To make this presentation successful, we used Tableau for the data visualization. Reference our research on separate documents and demonstrate the usage of tools and techniques learned throughout the course.
